Author's Page ~ Nancy D. Butler

Nancy D. Butler built a business with only $2,000 and no other source of income to $200 million in assets under management before selling it. Since 2007, Nancy has been passing on her knowledge and experience through her work as a national professional motivational speaker, award-winning author and business coach. She helps businesses do a better job for their clients while improving their bottom line, and helps individuals live more successful and fulfilling lives. Her books are an easy read that offer practical, uplifting and motivational tips for a better life and increased business success.

"Above All Else, Success in Life & Business"

Told in practical anecdotal fashion, you will be inspired by Butler. Grow with her during her struggles. Learn from her as she finds a profession in which she not only finds success, but also helps countless people design their own future success. Laugh with her as she shares funny moments from family life. Hurt with her as she loses her father and other loved ones, and then honors their legacies. Rejoice with her as she finds a second chance at love.

Butler built her business as a single parent with only $2,000 and no other source of income to $200 million in assets under management and then purposefully chose her successor and sold her business in the amount planned and on the date planned.

This memoir will inspire you through hardship, loss and success. Grow, learn, laugh, hurt, and rejoice as you journey through the author's professional and personal life.

"A Realtor's Guide to Great Success, Above and Beyond the Competition"

As a Realtor, what challenges are keeping you from greater success? Nancy interviewed Realtors across the country to discover whether Realtors in different parts of the country were dealing with the same issues, or their own particular breed of hardships in the current economic and real estate environment. Now that Realtors' biggest obstacles are identified, you can discover how to overcome them with easy-to-implement strategies that will take your business to the next level, while showing you how to find balance between work and personal life.
