"One Hundred & Eleven Questions & Answers Concerning the Pilgrims"

By William P. Muttart & Linda R. Ashley

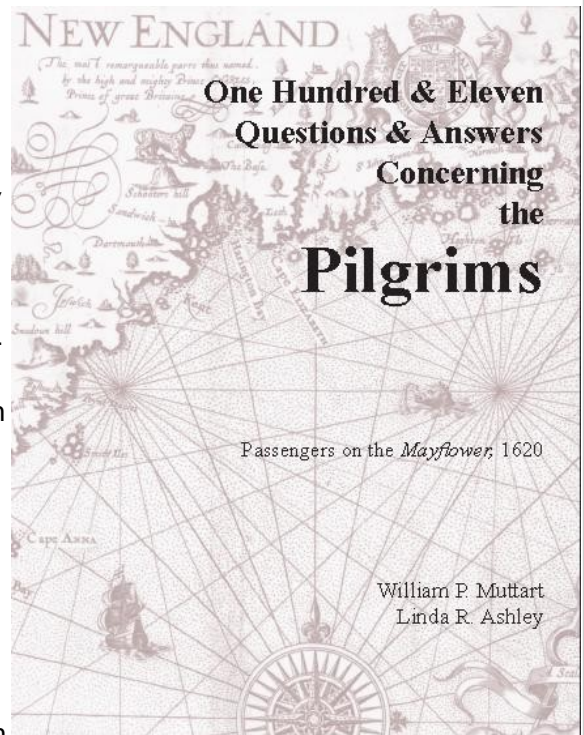

In years past, many of us believed that the passengers who arrived on the Mayflower in 1620 called themselves Pilgrims, were united in their desire to seek religious freedom, landed on Plymouth Rock and celebrated the first Thanksgiving. We now realize that these previously held beliefs were largely incorrect. This book attempts to provide accurate and objective answers to some of the questions about the Pilgrims that have frequently been the source of misunderstanding or controversy over the years.

Bill Muttart is a member of the Mayflower Society in CT and is the Secretary of the (Pilgrim) Thomas Rogers Society. He has also written several articles about the Pilgrims for various publications. He is a retired administrator with the U.S. District Court in CT, having served the Federal and State Courts for more than forty years. His book has been one of the best sellers at several sites dealing with Pilgrim history and has been recommended reading by many Pilgrim historians. He was prompted to publish this book after noting the many misconceptions held by the public regarding the true facts about the Pilgrims. In addition to his long standing interest in historical and genealogical research, he was known in athletic circles for over 25 years as a college and high school football referee.

Co-author Linda R. Ashley is the former Librarian for the General Society of Mayflower Descendants in Plymouth. She has also served as the Curator of the (Pilgrim) John Alden House in Duxbury, MA and has written and edited a number of articles that have been published in the Mayflower Quarterly Magazine and several other publications. She is currently Registrar for Appalachian Ministries in Berea, Kentucky.
