Author's Page ~ William O'Neill Curatolo

An Irish-Italian hybrid, born and raised in New York City. A biophysicist by training, he served on the staff at MIT for six years, followed by twenty-seven years in the R&D Division at Pfizer.

He is the author of numerous scientific publications, and holds thirty-five US patents. He currently lives a quiet life on the Connecticut shoreline, where he writes novels, short stories and non-fiction pieces about poisons.

"Campanilismo"

The story is a thriller about physicians and scientists in the drug discovery and internet pharmacy fields, caught in murky ethical waters.
